

Are you looking to advance your fire service career?

Whether you are a volunteer or career firefighter, a certificate or minor in fire service administration can help you build the skills necessary for leading your department into the future.

Developed from the Fire and Emergency Services Higher Education program of the National Fire Academy, this online certificate or minor will take your work experience and public safety training to a new level of leadership and management to help you advance your department and your career.

The following courses needed to completed the certificate (4 courses) or to earn a minor (6 courses) in fire administration:

Fire and Emergency Services Administration

Political and Legal Foundations of Fire Protection

Fire Prevention Organization and Management

Personnel Management for the Fire and Emergency Services Community Risk Reduction for the Fire and Emergency Services

Applications of Fire Research

For more information on this completely online program contact the Missouri
State University

Department of Political Science at 417-836-5630 or go to

<http://politicalscience.missouristate.edu/>

For information on registering for the program go to <http://www.missouristate.edu/admissions/apply.htm>